Barry,

I want to thank you for your work on my projects. As you know, this is perhaps the highest profile building in the world at this point and the logistics have posed enormous challenges.

Your help with the planning cannot be underestimated in value and timeliness. The flow of information has been greatly enhanced by your 3d drawings and elevations. They have allowed me to explain an otherwise baffling process to all parties: architects, cooks and engineers alike.

Your patience with the constant changes and tweaks is duly noted and appreciated!

I look forward to getting these installed and put into action.

All the best,
